When I get around to it.

At the end of a beautiful day or after getting started on the Monday grind at work, have you ever wished you had gone for a ride while the weather was so nice? Have you ever told a friend that asked you to go for a ride that you would when you get around to it? Have you ever been told about a free parking lot practice or a CPR first aid class and said "I'll get around to it"? If any of these situations sound familiar, did you ever get around to it? We seem to get tied up in our day to day routine and chores at home that we don't make time to do the things we enjoy; like riding our bikes. We can always think of excuses not to go for a relaxing ride, join friends on a ride that will surely involve eating great food, or seizing the opportunity to hone your riding skills or learn how you could possibly save a friend or loved ones' life. We have to make an excuse to get out of our routine or work around the house and get out and have some fun. Just a couple of weekends ago we provided a three wheeled Parking Lot Practice for five riders, a CPR/First Aid class for 10 people and a seminar on Motorcycle Crash Scene Response for 8 people. And just how much did all this great training cost? Nothing and they all had a free lunch. They took the time to get around to it. Last Saturday seven members took a ride for breakfast at Cracker Barrel in Tifton then took a tour of the new Honda Shop. We offer things to do and places to go and invite you to come ride with us at any of our scheduled rides or events. Please come join us when you "get around to it". It is HOT so please ride safely and be prepared when you start out for the day. Drink plenty of water, take frequent breaks and keep an eye out on each other to watch for signs of heat stroke or heat exhaustion.

Ride safe and ride often.

Lets Rally

I was on a recent ride enjoying some of Alabama's back roads. I encountered a summer shower which dumped a lot of water in a short period of time. The unusual happened in that I encountered a 4 wheeler ahead of me who recognized the road conditions and slowed way down. I am talking 40 MPH. The posted speed was 55MPH. Given the conditions, 50 would have been a good speed. The road was both mildly hilly and curvy so the opportunity to pass was near nonexistent. I had several cars come up and stack up behind me. I finally had an opportunity to pass, put on my left turn signal, and slowly eased out to do one last sight check before going on around. Well Mr. Impatient behind me decided he could beat me and started around. Fortunately I did a quick mirror check and got a close up glimpse of him coming around. I quickly pulled back to the right as he whizzed by. Had I not done that mirror check he would have nailed me. Just remember motorist do not see and have little respect for a bike. You have to "Watch Your Back Side". A quick mirror check can save your life.
